Project Abstract Summary

* Project Summary

Turtle Mountain Community College is applying for a Native Language Preservation and Maintenance Planning Grant. It will directly impact 100 people.

Statement of Need -- On the Turtle Mountain reservation, there are two languages with their roots in indigenous languages--Ojibwa and Michif. Ojibwa, is the traditional language of the Anishinabe people. Michif, a mixed language based on French, Cree and Ojibwa. In the early 1970s, Michif was the dominant native language and was spoken by most of the adult members.

Five years ago there were 31 fluent Ojibwa speakers. Two have since died, but 15 more speakers have been added to the list with another 40 identifying themselves as semi-fluent. It is of particular note that one of the new speakers is only 28 years of age. The status of the second language, Michif, clearly illustrates how fragile language is. Thirty years ago, it was spoken by almost all adults 40 years and over. Today, the college has identified 98 Michif speakers. Of these, 47 are over 70 years of age; 45 are age 56-70; and 16 are 36-55. There are no younger fluent speakers. Literally in the space of thirty years, Michif has moved from a commonly used language to one at risk with only about 1% of the reservation population speaking it and almost half of the speakers being over 70 years of age.

The critical need is to document, preserve and transmit the languages of the Turtle Mountains before they are lost. Language is like the air within, around, and among us. The title of our proposed project, Kitchita Ondwewe Nooding--Sacred Voices in the Air, reflects this. There is a sense of urgency in knowing that the voices of the languages are being stilled by death. With each year, the presence of the voices in the winds fades. It must be recaptured before it becomes an indistinct murmur.

Project Goal and Objectives

Goal: To support revitalization of the languages through a comprehensive effort to include documentation of the oral language and curriculum development for teaching the language.

Objective 1: By the end of the project, TMCC will provide opportunity for Native language speakers to participate in the project by identifying fluent speakers and attaining participation by at least 50% in the planning for the language preservation program.

Objective 2: 40% of the identified fluent language speakers will participate in the oral documentation component with a minimum of 24 hours of documentation per speaker each year.

Objective 3: Dual language curriculum will be developed for adult and early childhood (Head Start through grade 3) learners and will include a master list of 1000 core words or phrases (documented by the fluent language speakers) by the end of the first six months and 25 language activity units will be developed and tested each ear.

Impact Indicators -- the project will impact ANA’s standard indicators including

1) the number of partnerships developed -- projected at two
2) the dollars leveraged -- projected at $11,775
3) participation -- projected at 100 including 35 speakers, 5 interviewers, 10 curriculum reviewers, and 50 in the curriculum pilot including 20 children.
